SESSION DESCRIPTIONS and OUTLINE

The programme consists of six subject tracks organized in six parallel streams of up to six sessions. The technical content and the sequence of sessions is subject to change.

T1 USER SUPPORT AND TRAINING TRACK

Chairs: Jill Foster, University of Newcastle, UK, Joyce Reynolds, ISI, Marina del Rey, USA

S1-1. Building and Supporting Electronic Communities
Chair: David Conrad, Asia Pacific Network Information Center, Japan. Operational experiences and lessons learned in bringing new communities of users to the Internet.

S1-2. Training for the Network Citizen
Chair: Peter Kemp, University of Glasgow, Scotland. Facing the challenge of training the expanding population of new network users.

S1-3. Panel: Power to the User! Enabling users to help themselves
Chair: Rolf Nordhagen, University of Oslo. InformationTechnology Services, Norway. To provide support for the increasing numbers of users on the network is a formidable task. This session will be run as a panel discussion. with expert panelists from around the world sharing their knowledge and experience. Audience participation is highly encouraged.

S1-4. Electronic Documents
Chair: Maria Heijne, SURFnet BV, The Netherlands. Reports on real projects concerned with the handling and delivery of electronic materials.

S1-5. Networked Information: Tools and Access
Chair: David Sitman, EARN, France. Tools and techniques for the provision of information over the network.

S1-6. Issues in building the Virtual Library
Chair: Michael Breaks, Heriot-Watt University Library, Edinburgh, Scotland. The papers will discuss some of the issues that will have to be addressed if the Internet is to fulfill its potential as a 'Virtual Library'

T2 DISTRIBUTED APPLICATIONS TRACK

Chairs: Erik Huizer, SURFnet, The Netherlands, Barry Leiner, USRA, USA

S2-1. MultiMedia A
Chair: John Dyer, Joint Network Team (JANET), UK. An overview of developments in interactive MultiMedia Networking.

S2-2. MultiMedia B
Chair: Chris Adie, Edinburgh University Computing Service, Scotland. An overview of developments in interactive MultiMedia Networking and MultiMedia Information Services.

S2-3. Dial-up Applications
Chairs: Hariharasubrahmanian Shrikumar, India, Archie Marshall, Jamaica. The State of the Art in Applications specific to usage over low bandwidth networks.

S2-4. Sample Application: How the Automotive Industry uses the Internet
Chair: Robert Moskowitz, Chrysler Corporation, USA. Examples of usage of Internet technology in the Industrial Environment.

S2-5. Networked Simulation and Virtual Reality
Chair: Mark Pullen, George Mason University, USA. Networking aspects of the new and exciting field of applications around Networked Simulation and Virtual Reality.

S2-6. Directory Services
Chair: Paul-Andre Pays, INRIA, France. Directory services for the Internet: Current issues in research and deployment.

T3 POLICY ISSUES TRACK

Chairs: Juergen Harms, University of Geneva, Switzerland, Mike Roberts, EDUCOM, USA

S3-1. Privacy
Chair: David Farber, University of Pennsylvania, USA. Recently, privacy in computer networks has become a topic for discussion, especially due to the US government's Clipper and Digital Telephony proposals. This session will focus on the legal and public policy issues in privacy protection.

S3-2. European CERT Activities
Chair: Hannes Lubich, SWITCH, Switzerland. The increase in computer and network related security breaches has led to the foundation of the Computer Emergency Response Team (CERT) in the USA. Similar efforts are currently being made in Europe, where a European CERT, as well as several national CERTs are being set up. This session will review the current situation, and will assess future steps.

S3-3. National and regional policies
Chair: Tomaz Kalin, RARE, The Netherlands. Reports from USA, Europe and the Pacific Rim, outlining current government policies on network service evolution.

S3-4. The Economics of Networks and Network Growth
Chair: Robert Cohen, Consultant, USA. The existing world-wide network infrastructure is becoming increasingly interesting for commercial use. On the other hand, the tremendous growth rate of the Internet requires additional funding to maintain the availability and quality of the network and its services.

S3-5. International Coordination of Internet Standards.
Chair: Lyman Chapin, Bolt Beranek and Newman, Cambridge, USA. A discussion of the cluster of issues around evolution of OSI and IP protocols in the international policy context.

S3-6 The Internet and the Press
Chair: John Markoff, New York Times, USA. Discussion forum with participants from Europe, USA and the rest of the World.

T4 REGIONAL ISSUES TRACK

Chair Richard Mandelbaum, NYSERNet, USA

S4-1. Networking assists Societal Stability/Networking
Chair: Steve Goldstein, National Science Foundation, USA. Networking can either help or hinder societal goals in any particular culture. What has the role of the Internet been in this regard? This session will look at some examples of cases where the Internet has either assisted in the reaching of such broader societal goals or has posed new problems.

S4-2. Internationalization of Network Applications
Chair: Borka Jerman-Blazic, J. Stefan Institute, Ljubljana, Sloveni. The Internet allows global collaboration in may diverse areas of scholarship and commerce. As part of such collaboration many new tools, especially linguistic and directory tools are necessary. This session will discuss work has been done so far on the development of such tools.

S4-3. Regional Developments I - Eastern Europe and CIS
Chair: Frode Greisen, UNI-C Lyngby, Denmark. An update on recent developments in the organization and operation of national and regional networks in Eastern Europe and the CIS.

S4-4. Regional Developments II - Pacific Rim and Latin America
Chair: Carlos Afonso, Brazilian Institute of Social and Economic Analysis, IBASE, Brazil. An update on recent developments in the organization and operation of national and regional networks in the Pacific Rim and Latin America.

S4-5. Regional Developments III - Africa and the Middle East
Chair: Mondher Mokni, Tunisia. An update on recent developments in the organization and operation of national and regional networks in Africa and the Middle East.

S4-6. National Research and Education Networks, Telephone Companies and PTT's.
A Panel discussion focussing on the relationships between Telephone Companies and PTT's and national and regional research and education networks. What is the current relationship? How is the development of the coming global information infrastructure and the continuing deregulation and increased competitiveness in the telephone industry going to effect these relationships.

T5 NETWORK ENGINEERING TRACK

Chairs Elise Gerich, Merit Network Inc. Ann Arbor, Michigan, USA, Peter Elford, Cisco Systems, Australia

S5-1. Routing and Addressing
Chair: Elise Gerich, Merit Network Inc. Ann Arbor, Michigan, USA. Network operators have stated routing and addressing plans must be manageable and scalable. This session presents some thoughts on how to address that requirement.

S5-2. Performance Analysis
Chair: Olivier Martin, CERN, Switzerland. Analysing network performance is key in designing networks and planning for network growth.

S5-3. Heterogeneous Networks
Chair: Toshiya Asaba, Internet Initiative Japan, Inc., Japan. To provide global connectivity to network users, network providers need to be aware of ways to engineer their networks to support multiple network protocols.

S5-4. Network management
Chair: Peter Elford, Cisco Systems, Australia. Network management tools and mechanisms are the basis for providing a stable operational service.

S5-5. Quality Assurance
Chair: Manfred Bogen, GMD, St. Augustin, Germany. With the proliferation of network service providers, assessing the quality of service is becoming an issue when deciding among them.

T6 NETWORK TECHNOLOGY TRACK

Chairs: Paul Mockapetris, ISI, Marina del Rey, USA, Juha Heinanen, FUNET, Finland

S6-1. Mobility
Chair: Charles Perkins, T.J. Watson Research Center IBM, USA. Support for mobile network users will be one of the key requirements for the rest of the decade. This session will discuss various aspects of mobility support in the Internet and in a specific environment.

S6-2. IPng: State of the art and process
Chair: Allison Mankin, NRL, USA. The IETF has recently chartered an IP next generation area to select a focus protocol. This session discusses the criteria, process and status of this effort.

S6-3. Future Generations of Internet Technology
Chair: Dave Morton, ECRC, Munich, Germany. Even as the IPng group struggles to identify a new production IP, research groups continue to work on the basic issues that will contribute to IPng and its successors.

S6-4. Broadband Technology
Chair: Jaap van Till, Consultancy Group Stratix BV, The Netherlands. High speed networks and their technology create specific problems for the network designer. This session discusses technology that makes broadband more tractable.

S6-5. Broadband deployment and experiments
Chair: Mark Laubach, HP Labs, USA. Testbeds provide experimental evidence regarding the utility of broadband as a building block for future networks. This session reports on the progress of some well known testbeds.

CONFERENCE EVENTS

All participants and accompanying persons are invited to attend the following events. We hope these events will provide an opportunity to renew old friendships and to create new ones with colleagues from all over the world.

OPENING RECEPTION
Palace of Culture, Tuesday, June 14 from 18.30 - 20.30. Enjoy light refreshments while "catching up" with friends and colleagues directly on the premises of the Congress Venue.

GALA DINNER
Wednesday, June 15 from 20.00 - 23.00. Obecni dum (Municipal House) Come and see the beautifully decorated interiors of the most impressive building in Art Nouveau style in Prague. There are six representative halls; the biggest one was frequently used by Smetana for concerts.

COCKTAILS
Palace of Culture, Thursday, June 16 from 18.00 - 19.00. A Farewell Cocktail Party will be held on the second floor of the Palace of Culture. The adjoining terrace has the most unforgettable view of Prague.

DEMONSTRATIONS

At the Conference there will be a demonstrations area where participants may visit a number of stands to see displays and demonstrations of various projects and applications of network services.

GENERAL INFORMATION

INET PASSPORT AND VISA REQUIREMENTS
All foreign visitors entering the Czech Republic must possess a passport valid for at least the next 6 months. Participants requiring a visa should apply immediately to consular offices of the Czech Republic or diplomatic missions in their country (in order to avoid delays in travel to the conference).

E-MAIL FACILITIES AT INET'94/JENC5
Internet access will be available at the Conference Location (Palace of Culture) beginning on Tuesday, 14 June until Friday, 17 June 1994.

CURRENCY / CREDIT CARDS
The unit of currency is Czech crown (Kc) which subdivided into 100 hallers (h). International credit cards are accepted for payment in most hotels, restaurants and shops. The exchange rate (February 1994): approx. $ 1,- is Kc 32.

TRANSPORTATION
The transport in Prague is organized by means of buses, trams and Metro (subway). One ride-ticket costs Kc 6,- and is valid for all means of transport. Individual tickets as well as 'travel passports' are available at all tobacconists' shops, newspaper stands or at hotel desks. Prague Metro is quite a new one and very efficient. At peak hours there is a train every 1 or 2 minutes, off-peak at least every 10 minutes.

CLIMATE AND CLOTHING
Prague has a continental climate. In June the average temperature is about 20 C (68 F). There might be an occasional shower, therefore it is advisable to bring a jacket, a sweater and an umbrella.

ELECTRICAL POWER
220 VAC. European norm, three - prong grounded plugs.

ACCESS TO THE CONFERENCE SITE
The Palace of Culture is located approximately 25 kilometers west of the airport. Taxis (about Kc 500,-) are available to take you to the Congress Venue.

PRAGUE
is like a history lesson come true. As you walk among the long stone palaces or across the 'Charles Bridge', with Smetana's Vltava flowing below and pointed towers all around, you will feel as if history had stopped somewhere back in the 18th century. Goethe called Prague the 'prettiest gem in the stone crown of the world'. This cultural center of Europe is famous for its architectural treasures that have been so well preserved. Its wealth can be gathered from the diversity and quantity of the many Romanesque monuments and its Gothic town planning. In time new styles developed, like Baroque and later on Art Nouveau. The countenance of Prague reflects every cultural period and all the different artistic styles. Musical life is a deeply rooted tradition in Prague. One only needs to remember the names of the two greatest Czech composers, Antonin Dvorak and Bedrich Smetana. Their music can still be heard. It is said that it is an advantage to be a foreigner in Prague. The renowned Slavonic hospitality manifests itself in Prague at every step. A lot of traditional Czech products are offered, like crystal, porcelain, earthenware, but also CDs, and illustrated art books. The national beverages like beer and sliwowitz are worth a try and restaurants offer a wide variety of food. Prague is ready to welcome its visitors and let you share in the experience of 'awakening to a beautiful dream'

'94/J OFFICIAL CARRIER
ENC5 appointed CSA (Czechoslovak Airlines) as official carrier of the conference. CSA has guaranteed to provide the lowest available fare at the time your ticket is issued. Please contact CSA representatives in your countries together with the confirmation of paid registration fee. An Information desk of CSA will be open at the Palace of Culture during the Conference period.

NETWORK TRAINING WORKSHOP FOR TECHNOLOGICALLY EMERGING COUNTRIES

In conjunction with INET'94/JENC5 Conference, a workshop for networking training for developing countries will be held prior to the conference itself. The workshop will take place at the Czech Technical University during 5 - 11 June 1994.

An intensive program of instruction, with emphasis upon hands-on network construction, configuration and use, is planned for each of four program tracks:

1) Dial-up networking technology
2) TCP/IP networking technology
3) Network navigation and services
4) National network management

For additional information, please contact:
Jo-Anne Scott (joscott@igc.apc.org).

RARE Working Groups

Prior to the conference, on Monday June 13 and Tuesday June 14, RARE Working Group meetings will take place. During these meetings the different Working Groups will introduce their current activities and discuss various high priority topics. The meetings are open to all those who are interested.

Monday, June 13
- RARE Working Group on Information Services and User Support
- RARE Working Group on Network Applications Support

Tuesday, June 14
- RARE Working Group on Lower-Layers Technology
- RARE Working Group on Information Services and User Support

The natural riches of South Bohemia are also immeasurable. You will enjoy the most impressive and interesting of these monuments, Hluboka Castle. It is built in a beautiful Tudor Gothic style and is filled with sumptuous tapestries, wood carvings, china, pictures and old weapons. Ceske Budejovice is a South Bohemian metropolis and the protected urban reservation was founded in the 13th century. Zlata Koruna, a monastery, is also from the 13th century. Cesky Krumlov considered to be the best-preserved Renaissance town in Central Europe, is protected by UNESCO. Trebon is a small picturesque town with the atmosphere of the Middle Ages, here you can rest for a while on the banks of the loveliest South-Bohemian fishpond. You will be accommodated in a 4 star hotel in Ceske Budejovice, while in the evening dinner will be served in a traditional Czech restaurant. A great deal of walking is involved, so please wear comfortable shoes.
